Ulrichsweb contains information on more than 300,000 periodicals (magazines, journals, and newspapers) such as ISSN, publisher, language, subject, abstracting and indexing coverage, full-text database coverage, pricing, availability, and, in some cases, reviews. Ulrichsweb covers more than 900 subject areas.

ACCESSING THE DATABASE
1. Visit http://www.lib.pacificu.edu
2. Click the Databases icon (right-hand sidebar)
3. Click U
4. Click UlrichsWeb (Ulrich’s Periodicals Directory)
5. If you are off-campus, you will be prompted to enter your PUNetID/password

SEARCHING FOR A SPECIFIC JOURNAL
1. Enter the periodical (journal) name into the search box (for example, Psychological Reports)
2. Click on the green magnifying glass to see the results
3. Click the title link for either the print format or the online format
4. You will see the Basic Description for your periodical:
   • Title
   • ISSN (International Standard Serial Number): this is a unique number assigned to a periodical; e.g. USA Today the newspaper, 0734-7456; USA Today the magazine, 0161-7389
   • Publisher
   • Country
   • Status: active versus ceased
   • Start Year: when the periodical started publishing
   • Frequency: how often the periodical is published
   • Language of Text: while most abstracting/indexing databases will publish the abstract in English; the article will be in its native language
   • Refereed: Ulrichsweb uses “refereed” instead of peer-reviewed. The football jersey indicates the periodical is peer-reviewed or refereed. A play on words. If the periodical is not refereed, you will NOT see the football jersey. Ulrichsweb deletes the entry entirely.
   • Serial type: whether the periodical is a magazine, journal, newspaper
   • Content type: consumer articles versus scholarly articles
5. You can expand the other categories to learn more about your periodical. For a bi-monthly scholarly, peer-reviewed, periodical, Psychological Reports is a cheap subscription at $630 per year.